CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. All bids to be PER PIECE as numbered in the catalog, unless otherwise mentioned.

2. The highest bidder to be the buyer. In all cases of disputed bids the lot shall be resold, but the auctioneer will use his judgment as to the good faith of all claims, and his decision shall be final.

3. Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

4. No bids may be received after the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, at which time title to the merchandise passes to the highest previous bidder. Thereafter all risk of loss by theft, fire, breakage or any other cause whatsoever is upon the purchaser and the Galleries and the owner have no further responsibility therefor.

5. Each successful bidder is required immediately after bidding on any lot to give his name and address writing, and to pay such deposit as may be required by the Galleries on account of the purchase price, and in default thereof, the Galleries may in its discretion again offer and resell the lot or lots in question.

6. All lots are to be removed by the purchaser at his expense and risk before noon of the day following the sale, and upon such removal the balance of the purchase price shall be paid. Articles not so removed by noon of the day following the sale may be stored by the Galleries in any warehouse of its selection pending delivery to the purchaser, all costs of removal and storage and other charges and all risk of loss or damage to be borne by the purchaser. The Galleries further reserves the right in its discretion to cancel the sale of any articles not removed and paid for as above provided, and to resell the same at public or private sale without further notice for the account of the buyer and to hold the buyer responsible for any resulting deficiency, together with all costs and expenses of the resale, but this provision shall be without prejudice to the right of the Galleries to retain the cash deposit paid by the buyer and apply the same on account of any such deficiency, and without prejudice to any other rights and remedies of the Galleries or the owner, and shall be deemed an additional remedy.

7. The Galleries exercise great care to catalog every lot correctly and endeavor therein and also at the actual time of sale, to point out any error, defect, imperfection, incorrectness of description, genuineness, authenticity or condition of any lot. The Galleries act only as an agent on behalf of the seller and sell every lot as is and without recourse to the Galleries.

8. Buying or bidding by the Galleries for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph, or telephone, if conditions permit, will be faithfully attended to without charge. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale. Orders for execution by the Galleries should be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the name of the object, and a bid on several objects catalogued under a single number should be stated to be so much per piece unless the description contains notation "(Lot)", in which case the bid should be stated to be so much FOR THE LOT. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Company, a deposit must be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

9. The galleries will afford every facility for the employment of carriers and packers by the purchasers, but will not be responsible for any damage arising from the acts of such carriers and packers.

FOREWORD

KING HOOPER INC. is offering to the public a collection of 17th, 18th and early 19th Century American Furniture and Contemporary Decorations that has been exhibited this past summer in the King Hooper Mansion, Marblehead, Massachusetts.

They take great pride in being able to give collectors an opportunity to examine and to purchase these choice specimens. Everything is entirely genuine, without restoration of any kind unless it is so specified in the description. All articles that are listed in the following pages have been personally selected by me, and King Hooper, Inc. can guarantee their authenticity without reservation.

Included is a collection of silver from Mr. Herbert Lawton, comprising examples of the rarest silver of early American makers. Every piece has been examined by experts and is personally guaranteed by Mr. Lawton to be as represented in the catalogue. It is the largest and finest collection that has ever been offered at auction.

Mr. Hyman Kaufman of 238 Newbury Street, Boston, Mass. has greatly assisted in making the King Hooper Mansion more beautiful this year than ever before, by his generous cooperation in allowing to be exhibited for sale there, some of his choicest pieces which are of great rarity and exquisite quality; these are now here included.

King Hooper Inc. assures the public that there is nothing offered in this sale by any other consignors than those mentioned above; and hope that the public will take as much pleasure in visiting the exhibition and attending the sale as they have in making and offering the collection.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—The three pieces of silver pictured on the other side, consisting of one silver creamer, one silver teapot and one silver sugar bowl, originally belonged to Peter Wyckoff, who was a quartermaster officer in the revolutionary forces. Peter Wyckoff's ancestors came over from Holland in the year 1635 and settled in New Amsterdam, which is now Brooklyn, N. Y. The books with the family records are now in Yale University, and the home which Peter Wyckoff's ancestors built in New Amsterdam is now in the Brooklyn Museum on Eastern Parkway. I am the seventh generation and direct descendant of Peter Wyckoff. I am also a Daughter of the American Revolution, Suffolk Chapter, L. I., N. Y.

MARGARET M. HALLOCK.

COPY OF EXTRACT

Mason, George (1725-1792), American statesman, was born in Stafford County (the part which is now Fairfax county), Virginia, in 1725. His family was of Royalist descent and emigrated to America after the execution of Charles I. His Colonial ancestors held official positions in the civil and military service of Virginia. Mason was a near neighbor and a lifelong friend of George Washington, though in later years they disagreed in politics. His large estates and high social standing together with his personal ability, gave Mason great influence among the Virginia planters and he became identified with many enterprises, such as the organization of the Ohio Company and the founding of Alexandria (1749). He was a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses in 1759-1760. In 1769 he drew up for Washington a series of non-importation resolutions, which were adopted by the Virginia legislature. In July, 1774, he wrote for a convention in Fairfax county a series of resolutions known as the Fairfax Resolves, in which he advocated a congress of the colonies and suggested non-intercourse with Great Britain, a policy subsequently adopted by Virginia and later by the Continental Congress. He was a member of the Virginia Committee of Safety from August to December, 1775, and of the Virginia Convention in 1775 and 1776; and in 1776 he drew up the Virginia Constitution and the famous Bill of Rights, a radically democratic document which had great influence on American political institutions. In 1780 he outlined the plan which was subsequently adopted by Virginia for ceding to the Federal government her claim to the "Back Lands," i.e., to territory north and northwest of the Ohio river. From 1776 to 1788, he represented Fairfax county in the Virginia Assembly. He was a member of the Virginia House of Delegates in 1776-1780 and again in 1787-1788, and in 1787 was a member of the convention that framed the Federal Constitution, and as one of its ablest debaters took an active part in the work. Particularly notable was his opposition to the compromises in regard to slavery and the slave-trade. Indeed, like most of the prominent Virginians of the time, Mason was strongly in favor of the gradual abolition of slavery. He objected to the large and indefinite power given by the completed Constitution to Congress, so he joined with Patrick Henry in opposing its ratification in the Virginia Convention (1788). Failing in this he suggested amendments, the substance of several of which was afterwards embodied in the present Bill of Rights. Declining an appointment as a United States Senator from Virginia, he retired to his home, Gunston Hall (built by him about 1758 and named after the family home in Staffordshire, England), where he died on the 7th of October, 1792. With James Madison and Thomas Jefferson, Mason carried through the Virginia legislature measurese disestablishing the Episcopal Church and protecting all forms of worship. In politics he was a radical Republican, who believed that local government should be kept strong and central government weak; his democratic theories had much influence in Virginia and other southern and western states.

See Kate Mason Rowland, "Life and Writings of George Mason" (2 vols., York, 1892).

This carved chair belonged to Mr. Fenton Fitzhugh, a member of the Fitzhugh family of "Marmion" and Fairfax Co., Virginia. It belonged to James Mason also, a descendant of Geo. Mason of Gunston Hall, signer of "Bill of Rights."
